

Fair Political Practices Commission
MEMORANDUM

To: Chairman Getman, Commissioners Downey, Knox, and Swanson

From: Lawrence T. Woodlock, Senior Commission Counsel
Luisa Menchaca, General Counsel

Subject: Proposition 34, Permanent Adoption of Emergency Regulation 18428

Date: February 21, 2002

Introduction

In December, the Commission updated regulation 18428, which treats the reporting obligations of “affiliated entities,” by adopting an amended version as an emergency regulation. The amendments were responsive to important statutory changes introduced by Proposition 34. In the intervening months, no further need for amendment has come to light. The Commission must now consider permanent adoption of the emergency regulation, which became operative on December 27, 2001, and which will expire by operation of law on April 25, 2002.

Background

At its monthly meeting in October, 2001, the Commission considered the adoption of a regulation implementing § 85311, added to the Act by Proposition 34 to govern the aggregation of contributions by “affiliated entities.” The Commission decided that a regulation was not necessary to explain or implement the new statute, the language of which had been adopted by the Commission as its own “affiliated entities” regulation in 1995. But in its memorandum to the Commission on this subject, staff recommended conforming amendments to regulation 18428, which establishes the reporting obligations of “affiliated entities.” This regulation was amended in 1997 to accommodate the expanded definition of “affiliated entities” introduced by Proposition 208, now repealed by Proposition 34. As a result of the 1997 amendments, regulation 18428 contained provisions not supported by governing law after passage of Proposition 34.

The Commission agreed at its December meeting that it should consider amendments to this reporting regulation, as proposed in staff’s earlier memorandum on § 85311, and accordingly the Commission adopted an amended version of regulation 18428 as an emergency regulation. The amendments adopted in December modify the first two subdivisions of regulation 18428, which at the time provided that:

“(a) The combined activities of affiliated entities (see 2 Cal. Code Regs. 18531.1) shall be used to determine whether a monetary threshold in the Political Reform Act or these regulations has been met or exceeded.

(b) Affiliated entities which do not receive campaign contributions shall file one campaign statement reflecting their combined activities. The campaign statement shall be filed in the name of the person who established, finances, maintains, or controls the affiliate or affiliates, with an indication that the campaign statement includes the activity of these entities. The campaign statements must indicate which entity made each itemized payment. The committee shall identify on its next campaign statement the addition or deletion of any entity with which it becomes affiliated or with which it ceases to be affiliated.” (Emphasis added.)

1. The December Amendments to Subdivisions (a) and (b)

Prior to the emergency regulation, subdivision (a) contained a reference to regulation 18531.1. That regulation implemented the aggregation provisions of Proposition 208, and had accordingly been repealed. The citation to it in regulation 18428 was therefore deleted. It was replaced by a reference to § 85311, which governs contributions of “affiliated entities,” as well as a reference to 2 Cal. Code Regs. 18225.4, which provides for aggregation of their independent expenditures. By amending subdivision (a) in this fashion, the Commission made it clear that the scope of this reporting regulation is limited to entities that are affiliated by their decisions to make contributions or independent expenditures, thereby affecting California campaigns, but not for reasons of ownership, structure or “control” in areas not regulated by the Act.

Subdivision (b) imposed a reporting obligation couched partly in the language of the Proposition 208 version of § 85311. Prior to Proposition 208, when one entity “directed and controlled” the contribution decisions of another, they were classified as “affiliated entities.” As amended by Proposition 208, § 85311 spread a much wider net, providing as follows:

“All payments made by a person established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any business entity, labor organization, association, political party, or any other person or group of such persons shall be considered to be made by a single person.”

Proposition 34 replaced that statute with the current version of § 85311, which now (after amendment by SB 34) reads as follows:

(a) For purposes of the contribution limits of this chapter, the following terms have the following meanings:

- (1) “Entity” means any person, other than an individual.
- (2) “Majority owned” means an ownership of more than 50 percent.
- (b) The contributions of an entity whose contributions are directed and controlled by any individual shall be aggregated with contributions made by that individual and any other entity whose contributions are directed and controlled by the same individual.
- (c) If two or more entities make contributions that are directed and controlled by a majority of the same persons, the contributions of those entities shall be aggregated.
- (d) Contributions made by entities that are majority owned by any person shall be aggregated with the contributions of the majority owner and all other entities majority owned by that person, unless those entities act independently in their decisions to make contributions.

Before the Commission’s action in December, regulation 18428 reflected affiliation criteria added to the Act by Proposition 208, highlighted in boldface type on page two, which was deleted from regulation 18428 as inconsistent with the current version of § 85311. The language remaining after deletion of these four words more closely tracks the current wording of § 85311 and regulation 18225.4.

To precisely reflect the current statutory language, the Commission decided to delete the four words left over from Proposition 208 and to insert the words “directs and” before “controls” in the fourth line of subdivision (b), to indicate that the standard of “affiliation” for reporting purposes is the same as the standard used for aggregating contributions in § 85311, and independent expenditures in regulation 18225.4. The Commission also inserted the words “expenditures of the” following the word “controls” to bring the regulation fully into line with Lumsdon and Kahn,¹ the Commission’s 1976 opinions which established the understanding of “affiliated entities” that underlies the current version of § 85311.

The Commission concluded that these amendments would reduce confusion among the regulated public during the upcoming elections, and facilitate compliance with the Act’s reporting provisions if aggregation rules governing contributions and independent expenditures were the same as the corresponding rules that define the reporting obligations of affiliated entities.

2. Deletion of Subdivision (c)

While portions of subdivisions (a) and (b) were amended in 1997 to bring the regulation into conformity with the new aggregation rules of Proposition 208, the entirety of subdivision (c) was drafted at the same time, for the same purpose. Under former regulation 18531.1(b), construing the broader “affiliation” standard of Proposition 208, “all contributions made by affiliated entities shall be considered to be made by a single person.” Subdivision (c) was added to regulation 18428 to require disclosure of all contributions made (or expected to be made) within two years by entities affiliated with the reporting party.

Under current law, contributions must be aggregated only when “directed and controlled” by an entity other than the ostensible payor. With the loss of Proposition 208, there was no longer any statutory authority for requiring disclosure of “any” or “all” contributions of affiliated entities, if they do not meet the narrow criteria for aggregation under the new § 85311.

The Commission decided in its December meeting to delete subdivision (c) so that filers will not be required to recognize two sets of “affiliated entities,” one set as defined by § 85311 and another, broader group as defined by regulation 18428(c). The remaining subdivisions were renumbered accordingly.

Staff Recommendation

The emergency regulation adopted in December brings regulation 18428 into conformity with § 85311, and now indicates that aggregation rules governing contributions and independent expenditures are the same as the rules that define the reporting obligations of affiliated entities. Staff recommends permanent adoption of the emergency regulation without further change.
